

From Head-Hunters to Church Planters: An Amazing Spiritual Awakening in Nagaland

There is a tendency today to associate revival and miracles with charismatic churches, but there were none of those in Nagaland when God first brought revival there. These powerful and life-changing visitations came to orderly, conservative Baptist congregations. As a result, Nagas found their true dignity not in themselves, their ethnic roots, their head-hunting, or the defense of their homeland, but they discovered it in the person and life of Jesus Christ, the living and one true God. This is a moving story of bravery and betrayal, suffering, persecution, supernatural intervention, and subsequent human weakness.

From Head-Hunters to Church Planters by Paul Hattaway, 2006 documents the `amazing spiritual awakening in Nagaland. The book is small at just 130 pages
